Student Testimonials

Dance Tech feels like home because the competition team is basically one huge family. The senior dancers are my sisters, the moms are my second mothers, the faculty is awesome aunts who always want the best for you, and the younger dancers are your new baby cousins, for whom you desire to be the biggest role model. The point is, I wouldn't change anything in the world for the experience I've had here and I'm very grateful for it.

Erinn Stephenson

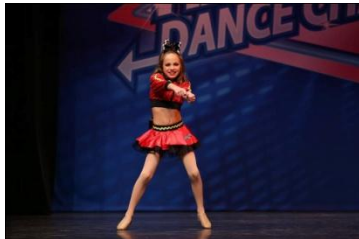

Dance Tech is just like any family; we may squabble from time to time, but we all help each other and are friends. From the studio owner down, it is staffed with encouraging, enthusiastic people who are eager to share their passion for dance. They support each individual dancer at his or her own level, and the instructors and choreographers are exceptional role models of character and integrity.
